FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER,
EXAMINATIONS

Gyula L. Rosenberg
for Robert P. Wiemann, Acting Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The nonimmigrant visa petition was denied by the Director, California Service Center, and is now before the Associate Commissioner for Examinations on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The petitioner is a sheep ranch. It desires to employ the beneficiaries as shepherders for one year. The director determined that the petitioner did not file a Petition for a Nonimmigrant Worker (Form I-129) with a single valid temporary agricultural labor certification, Application for Alien Employment Certification (Form ETA 750). The director also determined that no evidence was submitted to substantiate the beneficiaries would be employed in accordance with the terms and conditions of the temporary agricultural labor certification.

On appeal, the petitioner submitted a copy of two separate petitions filed for two unnamed workers, a copy of two separate petitions filed for three unnamed workers, and a copy of the petitions filed for [REDACTED] and [REDACTED], as shepherders for one year.

The regulation at 8 C.F.R. 214.2(h)(5)(i) states:

(A) General. An H-2A petition must be filed on Form I-129. The petition must be filed with a single valid temporary agricultural labor certification....An H-2A petition may be filed by either the employer listed on the certification, the employer's agent, or the association of United States agricultural producers named as a joint employer on the certification.

The H-2A petition was filed on September 13, 2000 by [REDACTED] Association for 12 unnamed workers. The petitioner, [REDACTED] Association, is not the employer or named as a joint employer on the temporary agricultural labor certifications submitted with the petition. The petitioner filed the petition with six separate Forms ETA 750's.

The regulation at 8 C.F.R. 214.2(h)(5)(i)(B) states in pertinent part that:

...a single petition can include more than one beneficiary if the total number does not exceed the number of positions indicated on the relating certification, and all the beneficiaries will obtain a visa at the same consulate or are not required to have a visa and will apply for admission at the same port of entry.

Since the petitioner did not submit a single valid temporary agricultural labor certification indicating the 12 positions on the relating petition, the petition cannot be approved.

Further, the petitioner has not presented evidence that any of the 12 unnamed beneficiaries qualify for such employment.

On appeal, the petitioner submitted copies of the petitions filed for unnamed and named beneficiaries. However, neither the statute nor the regulations allows for consideration of these petitions during this proceeding.

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1361. Here, the petitioner has not met that burden.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
